CCTG Donation for Relief Efforts
Kris Roglieri and company funds to support Hurricane Harvey Victims

Albany, New York: Entrepreneur and Commercial Financier Kris Roglieri and his company, Commercial Capital Training Group (CCTG), are making a $10,000 donation towards relief efforts in response to Hurricane Harvey and the recent events caused by the natural disaster in Texas. CCTG has trainees from all over the United States, including many in Texas; some of whom have been directly affected by the storm.

The team stands in support of all efforts to help victims during this difficult time. We hope to inspire and encourage other businesses to join in on the cause and contribute.

“This crises hit our family of companies very hard as we have numerous clients located in Houston. Our hearts go out to everybody affected by the situation and we are doing everything we can to help people in need,” said Roglieri.

The $10,000 donation will go towards the following:

- The Houston Food Bank
- SPCA of Texas
- The Coalition for the Homeless of Houston/Harris County
- Portlight Strategies and the Partnership for Inclusive Disaster Strategies
- Texas Diaper Bank and
- The Center for Disaster Philanthropy

About Our Company: Commercial Capital Training Group is a unique commercial loan broker training program located in the Capital Region. We open the door for all of our trainees to own and operate a commercial finance company. With more than 75 years of combined experience, our comprehensive program offers lifetime support, a strong portfolio of lenders, and more to get you on the path to success. We strive to ensure each attendee walks away with confidence to not only run their very own business, but to also help others, including local business owners, in need of alternative financing.
